

Mount Laurel Language Arts Curriculum
Grade 7

Reading Unit: Navigating Informational Texts

Stage 1: Determine the Desired Results

Enduring Understanding(s):

Good readers monitor and self-correct their reading, solve words as they read, search for and use information, summarize, make predictions and connections, infer, synthesize, analyze, and critique their reading to make print relevant and useful.

Good readers employ strategies that help them understand text.

Strategic readers develop, select, and apply strategies to enhance their comprehension.

Readers organize and categorize their thinking as they read nonfiction texts.

Good readers recognize that words are made of sounds.

Good readers use oral discussions to help build connections to others and to content.

Essential Question(s):

What do readers do when they do not understand everything in a text?

How do readers construct meaning from text?

What do readers do to enhance their comprehension abilities?

How do readers grasp main ideas in non-fiction texts?

How do I figure out a word I do not know?

How can discussion increase our knowledge and understanding of an idea(s)?

Informational text for this grade level include biographies and autobiographies; books about history, social studies, science and the arts; technical texts including directions, forms and information displayed in graphs, charts or maps; in digital sources on a range of topics written for a broad audience (CCSS p.31)

Common Core Standards

Students will be able to...

Key Ideas and Details

- RI.7.1. Cite several pieces of textual evidence to support analysis of what the text says explicitly as well as inferences drawn from the text.
- RI.7.2. Determine two or more central ideas in a text and analyze their development over the course of the text; provide an objective summary of the text.
- RI.7.3. Analyze the interactions between individuals, events, and ideas in a text (e.g., how ideas influence individuals or events, or how individuals influence ideas or events).

Mount Laurel Language Arts Curriculum
Grade 7

Craft and Structure

- RI.7.4. Determine the meaning of words and phrases as they are used in a text, including figurative, connotative, and technical meanings; analyze the impact of a specific word choice on meaning and tone.
- RI.7.5. Analyze the structure an author uses to organize a text, including how the major sections contribute to the whole and to the development of the ideas.
- RI.7.6. Determine an author's point of view or purpose in a text and analyze how the author distinguishes his or her position from that of others.

Integration of Knowledge and Ideas

- RI.7.7. Compare and contrast a text to an audio, video, or multimedia version of the text, analyzing each medium's portrayal of the subject (e.g., how the delivery of a speech affects the impact of the words).
- RI.7.8. Trace and evaluate the argument and specific claims in a text, assessing whether the reasoning is sound and the evidence is relevant and sufficient to support the claims.
- RI.7.9. Analyze how two or more authors writing about the same topic shape their presentations of key information by emphasizing different evidence or advancing different interpretations of facts.

Range of Reading and Level of Text Complexity

RI.7.10. By the end of the year, read and comprehend literary nonfiction in the grades 6–8 text complexity band proficiently, with scaffolding as needed at the high end of the range.

Vocabulary Acquisition and Use

- L.7.4. Determine or clarify the meaning of unknown and multiple-meaning words and phrases based on grade 7 reading and content, choosing flexibly from a range of strategies.

Use context (e.g., the overall meaning of a sentence or paragraph; a word's position or function in a sentence) as a clue to the meaning of a word or phrase.

Use common, grade-appropriate Greek or Latin affixes and roots as clues to the meaning of a word (e.g., belligerent, bellicose, rebel).

Consult general and specialized reference materials (e.g., dictionaries, glossaries, thesauruses), both print and digital, to find the pronunciation of a word or determine or clarify its precise meaning or its part of speech.

Verify the preliminary determination of the meaning of a word or phrase (e.g., by checking the inferred meaning in context or in a dictionary).

- L.7.5. Demonstrate understanding of figurative language, word relationships, and nuances in word

Mount Laurel Language Arts Curriculum
Grade 7

meanings.

Interpret figures of speech (e.g., literary, biblical, and mythological allusions) in context.

Use the relationship between particular words (e.g., synonym/antonym, analogy) to better understand each of the words.

Distinguish among the connotations (associations) of words with similar denotations (definitions) (e.g., refined, respectful, polite, diplomatic, condescending).

Comprehension and Collaboration

- SL.7.1. Engage effectively in a range of collaborative discussions (one-on-one, in groups, and teacher-led) with diverse partners on grade 7 topics, texts, and issues, building on others' ideas and expressing their own clearly.
 - Come to discussions prepared, having read or researched material under study; explicitly draw on that preparation by referring to evidence on the topic, text, or issue to probe and reflect on ideas under discussion.
 - Follow rules for collegial discussions, track progress toward specific goals and deadlines, and define individual roles as needed.
 - Pose questions that elicit elaboration and respond to others' questions and comments with relevant observations and ideas that bring the discussion back on topic as needed.
 - Acknowledge new information expressed by others and, when warranted, modify their own views.
- SL.7.2. Analyze the main ideas and supporting details presented in diverse media and formats (e.g., visually, quantitatively, orally) and explain how the ideas clarify a topic, text, or issue under study.
- SL.7.3. Delineate a speaker's argument and specific claims, evaluating the soundness of the reasoning and the relevance and sufficiency of the evidence.

Presentation of Knowledge and Ideas

- SL.7.4. Present claims and findings, emphasizing salient points in a focused, coherent manner with pertinent descriptions, facts, details, and examples; use appropriate eye contact, adequate volume, and clear pronunciation.
- SL.7.5. Include multimedia components and visual displays in presentations to clarify claims and findings and emphasize salient points.
- SL.7.6. Adapt speech to a variety of contexts and tasks, demonstrating command of formal English when indicated or appropriate.

Mount Laurel Language Arts Curriculum
Grade 7

Interdisciplinary Connection: Educational Technology

All students will use digital tools to access, manage, evaluate, and synthesize information in order to solve problems individually and collaborate and to create and communicate knowledge.

Integration of 21st Century Themes and Skills:

- CRP6. Demonstrate creativity and innovation.
- CRP5. Consider the environmental, social and economic impacts of decisions.
- CRP7. Employ valid and reliable research strategies.
- CRP8. Utilize critical thinking to make sense of problems and persevere in solving them.

Stage 2: Assessment Evidence

Performance Task:

Have you wondered what life may have been like during the colonial period in America? A time machine is ready to take you back to this point in our history. Develop a set of questions that will assist you with understanding how people may have lived during this time.

Your questions might focus on the type of government that was in place, the type of transportation that was used, the types of jobs and schooling that were available, and the type of entertainment that existed.

Use information from a variety of sources (print, online resources, video materials, etc.) to cull your data. Compare the ways in which life is different from and similar to contemporary times. Be sure to cite examples and evidence for your findings.

Use the information you have researched, to design a chart, a short narrative non-fiction account, an "all about" book on this topic.

Other Forms of Assessment:

Book Talk

Reading Log Review

Mini-lesson Application

Post-it Note and/or Organize Your Thought Sheet Review

Letter Writing

T's anecdotal notes from conferring with a student about his/her independent reading book (review of goals, examine progress over time, evaluate letter writing revisions and updates)

Status of the Student: Is the student engaged in a worthwhile activity when the teacher is conducting a guided reading group or conferring with a child individually?

Stage 3: Learning Plan

Mount Laurel Language Arts Curriculum
Grade 7

Learning Activities:

Your classroom library should be a balance of informational (biography, autobiography, memoir, factual texts, technical manuals, “How-To” books, etc.) and narrative texts that represent the culture and interests of your students.

The 80-Minute Reading Workshop Block

Practitioner timeline for 80 minute block:

Mini-Lesson (10-15 minutes)

Guided Reading (50 minutes: two groups with 25 minutes dedicated to each group)

Conferring (15 minutes: individual conference calls with three students)

Sharing (if time permits)

Reading is taught five times across a two week period of time (with Atwell’s writer’s workshop taught on alternate days) in this way:

Week 1: Monday, Wednesday, Friday

Week 2: Tuesday, Thursday

It is required that teachers use 20 minutes of each writing workshop day to teach reading (this option allows for a 60-minute writing block on writing workshop days). This supports the teaching of reading daily. This 20-minute block of time can be devoted to conducting one guided reading group; conferring with students individually or at a table conference on a specific teaching point.

Mini-Lessons:

Topics for reading mini-lessons are culled from the Common Core Content Standards, Fountas’s and Pinnell’s mentor texts: Guiding Readers and Writers: Teaching for Comprehension, Genre, and Content Literacy and Teaching for Comprehending and Fluency: Thinking, Talking, and Writing About Reading, K-8, and students’ needs.

Children apply the mini-lesson strategy or skill to their independent and guided reading material. There are three categories of mini-lessons.

You may wish to revisit or extend a “First Twenty Days...” lesson previously taught.

Three Categories of Mini-lessons

- 1) lessons on management
- 2) lessons on strategies and skills
- 3) lessons on literary analysis

Lessons on management, see p. 129 for list from the mentor text Guiding Readers and Writers...

Lessons on strategies and skills, see p. 132 for list from Guiding Readers and Writers...

Lessons on literary analysis, see pages 134 and 135 from Guiding Readers and Writers...

Refer to the Appendix for a detailed list of mini-lessons on non-fiction reading.

Required Mini-lessons for Reading Non-Fictional Text:

(some may be taught together)

RI.7.1. Cite several pieces of textual evidence to support analysis of what the text says explicitly as well as inferences drawn from the text.

These mini-lessons focus on literal understanding and details of text:

- notice the characteristics of a book so they can identify its genre
- identify the genre of a book so they can know what to expect as they read
- retell the main idea, key details, facts, events, ideas and/or concepts using textual evidence
- notice the time and place (setting) and the importance to the narrative non-fiction
- notice who are the most important individuals in a text
- think about the order of facts, events, and details in a text
- think about the problem in the text
- think about the important events, facts, and details in a text

RI.7.2. Determine two or more central ideas in a text and analyze their development over the course of the text; provide an objective summary of the text.

These mini-lessons focus on analyzing, summarizing, and inferential thinking of text:

- think about what the writer of the text is trying to say; think about the text's meaning
- think about why the writer wrote the book/text/article
- think about the literal meaning of the text, but notice what is being implied
- think about whether the title tells something important about the book's theme
- understand that there may be more than one theme in a book
- determine the central message, lesson or moral of a text
- explain how the central message, lesson or moral is conveyed through key details in the text

RI.7.3. Analyze the interactions between individuals, events, and ideas in a text (e.g., how ideas influence individuals or events, or how individuals influence ideas or events).

These mini-lessons focus on analyzing, summarizing, synthesizing, and inferential thinking of text:

- notice the interactions between the individuals, events, ideas/concepts in a text
- notice how individuals, events, ideas/concepts, or steps in a text relate to one another

RI.7.4. Determine the meaning of words and phrases as they are used in a text, including figurative, connotative, and technical meanings; analyze the impact of a specific word choice on meaning and tone.

These mini-lessons focus on analyzing and inferring words and phrases:

- notice how writers use words carefully to communicate meaning (figurative, connotative, and technical meanings)
- notice memorable phrases and sentences writers use to communicate meaning to the reader
- notice the language that that writers use to help them form images (what they can see, hear, taste, feel, or smell)
- think about how the language writers use to make comparisons helps the student to understand the meaning of print and enjoy reading

RI.7.5. Analyze the structure an author uses to organize a text, including how the major sections contribute to the whole and to the development of the ideas.

These mini-lessons focus on analyzing the structure of the text.

- notice the structure of an informational text and how that helps you to locate information (see appendix for comprehensive list of text features)
- recognize how major sections of a text contribute to its overall development of ideas

RI.7.6. Determine an author's point of view or purpose in a text and analyze how the author distinguishes his or her position from that of others.

These mini-lessons focus on the reader's ability to evaluate and critique the author's viewpoint:

- think about the points of view of the author
- think about the opposing points of view of the author
- distinguish between authors' points of view on a topic

RI.7.7. Compare and contrast a text to an audio, video, or multimedia version of the text, analyzing each medium's portrayal of the subject (e.g., how the delivery of a speech affects the impact of the words).

These mini-lessons focus on the reader's ability to extrapolate information from picture clues (analyzing):

- examine a text for a description of a subject
- examine an audio for a description of the same subject
- examine a video for a description of the same subject
- compare and contrast each of these versions to the other, noting how the delivery or portrayal of one type of medium may alter/impact another

RI.7.8. Trace and evaluate the argument and specific claims in a text, assessing whether the reasoning is sound and the evidence is relevant and sufficient to support the claims.

These mini-lessons focus on analyzing structure of factual texts:

- notice and evaluate the claims the author is making in a text
- notice the author's reasoning and evidence for his/her claims
- evaluate whether the author is able to back up his/her claims with evidence
- evaluate if the author's reasoning is relevant and sufficient to support his/her claims

RI.7.9. Analyze how two or more authors writing about the same topic shape their presentations of key information by emphasizing different evidence or advancing different interpretations of facts.

These mini-lessons focus on analyzing important points and key details from differing texts on the same topic.

Mount Laurel Language Arts Curriculum
Grade 7

When analyzing and comparing texts of the same topic:

- think about how an author presents important points and key details on a topic
- think about how a second or third author when writing about the same topic presents key information and details about the topic in a different way with an emphasis on different aspects of the topic
- compare and contrast the various authors' points of view which may result in different interpretations of the same topic/facts

RI.7.10. By the end of the year, read and comprehend literary nonfiction in the grades 6–8 text complexity band proficiently, with scaffolding as needed at the high end of the range.

- By year's end be able to read a variety of informational texts, including history, social studies, and science, within a grade 6-8 text complexity band using processing strategies effectively (word solving and higher order thinking skills/systems of strategic actions).

L.7.5. Demonstrate understanding of figurative language, word relationships, and nuances in word meanings.

Interpret figures of speech (e.g., literary, biblical, and mythological allusions) in context.

Use the relationship between particular words (e.g., synonym/antonym, analogy) to better understand each of the words.

Distinguish among the connotations (associations) of words with similar denotations (definitions) (e.g., refined, respectful, polite, diplomatic, condescending).

- notice figurative language and interpret meaning
- notice word relationships and nuances in word meanings
- distinguish the literal and nonliteral meanings of words and phrases in context
- identify real-life connections between words and their use
- distinguish shades of meaning among related words that describe states of mind or degrees of certainty
- think about the language writers use to make comparisons that helps them understand the meaning of print and enjoy reading

Required Mini-lessons on Reading Informational Texts

Readers:

- activate prior knowledge or schema to support their thinking about a topic or issue
- skim and/or scan the text to gather information
- access the text through the table of contents and the index
- use the table of contents to determine the topics introduced and discussed in the book/article
- use headings and subheadings to gather the information needed
- note the type of organizational pattern that is used (sidebars, bolded words, etc.)
- determine which information is critical to understanding a specific concept, issue, or topic
- use the glossary to better understand unfamiliar words

Mount Laurel Language Arts Curriculum
Grade 7

Nonfiction Genres

- understand the features of nonfiction texts
- understand the structures of nonfiction texts
- understand the characteristics of literary nonfiction
- understand when an author is giving facts or interpreting facts in the informational books (both biographical and factual)
- understand that when information is not known, the writer often uses words like perhaps, some say, possibly, it is likely that, or probably
- understand how sequential information is presented in graphics – illustrated timeline, flowchart, graph timeline, quotation timeline
- understand and using authors' notes to gain insights regarding the authors' motives, discoveries of information, or the historical context

Biographical Texts

- Understand the characteristics of biography.
- Understand why a subject is selected.
- Reveal the writer's attitude toward the subject.
- Understand the organization of a biography (chronological sequence or other).
- Understand how the writer reveals the setting.

Biography

- Understand the nature and features of biographical texts.
- Understand authentic biography and fictionalized biography.
- Understand the structure of biographical texts (linear, flashback, selected events, or characteristics).
- Evaluate the elements of biography – choice of subject, accuracy, authenticity, style, characterization, and theme.
- Understand the types and characteristics of picture book biographies, autobiographies, and memoirs – shorter, more simplified biographies, partial or complete, one subject or a collective, real images (photos) or imagined images that reflect reality as much as possible (paintings, drawings).
- Understand the setting in a biography and how it influences the person's decisions.
- Understand how a person's decisions affected his/her life as described in the biography.
- Recognize and understanding the turning points in a person's life when important decisions were made.
- Understand what might have happened if different decisions had been made by the subject.
- Recognize and noting information sources, motives, biases, or inconsistencies in a biography.
- Distinguish between reporting facts and historical interpretation in biography.
- Understand how an author's or illustrator's note adds to understanding of a biography.
- Understand how to identify the primary sources used for biography as a means of judging accuracy in interpretation.
- Analyze and comparing several biographies of the same subject to interpret perspectives on the past.
- Understand how biographers shape and structure information, use captions, use details and anecdotes, and use information from primary and secondary sources.
- Understand how biographers select art to build interest in the subject.

Mount Laurel Language Arts Curriculum
Grade 7

Autobiography

- Understand the characteristics of an autobiography.
- Understand why a person would write an autobiography.
- Hypothesize why an individual would select particular information to report.
- Notice the specific details a person provides about his or her life.
- Notice the organization of the autobiography (chronological sequence or other).

Memoir

- Understand the characteristics of a memoir.
- Think about why a person would write a memoir.
- Understand a writer's reasons for selecting a particular time of his or her life.
- Notice the writer's use of language to convey an intense or poignant memory.

Factual Texts

- Understand the features of factual texts.
- Understand the overall structure of factual texts (categorical, logical organization).
- Understand underlying structures that writers use to present information – enumeration, chronological sequence, comparison and contrast, cause and effect, problem and solution, and description.

“How-To” Books

- Understand the nature of “how-to” books.
- Notice how writers make a sequence understood.
- Notice how writers use language to make directions clear.

Readers' Tools

- Understand how to read a table of contents.
- Understand how to read a glossary or index.
- Understand the differences between a table of contents and an index.
- Understand how to use a variety of readers' tools such as a pronunciation guides, scales, legends, labels, forewords, epilogues, author's notes.

Writing about Reading/Letter Writing: Letter Writing must start by October 1st

Reading Non-Fictional Texts, Unit Part 1 (1st 7 weeks of unit) has a primary focus on students' ability to write to inform/explain.

Reading Non-Fictional Texts, Unit Part 2 (2nd 7 weeks of unit) has a primary focus on students' ability to construct an argument.

Writing about reading is a tool for reflection. It is a way to clarify our thinking; to share and to explain interpretations of text; to identify the theme or topic in a text; to explore bigger issues beyond the text; confirm our suppositions; pose questions; to apply the systems of strategic actions to the text; and to consider possibilities.

Letter writing by the student and teacher's replies to student work is an important way for teachers to prepare students for the constructed response on high stakes' tests.

Mount Laurel Language Arts Curriculum
Grade 7

Children use post-its /quick notes as a vehicle to remember their thinking when preparing for letter writing or conferring with the teacher about their self-selected text.

Children engage in reader response via a letter/literary essay weekly to their independent reading book. Teachers are required to reply to student’s written responses once every two weeks.

Analytical writing is writing to inform/explain and to construct an argument is analytical writing. Writing to inform/explain and argument-writing is the ability to take complex evidence and make it clear.

Writing to construct an argument is the ability on the part of the student to make claims about the worth or meaning of a literary work or works. Students defend their interpretations or judgments with evidence from the text(s) they are writing about.

Writing to inform or explain serves to:

- increase the reader’s knowledge of a subject
- help readers better understand a procedure or process
- provide readers with an enhanced comprehension of a concept

Required minilessons on writing in response to reading in this unit focus on writing to inform and explain (first seven weeks of this unit) and writing to construct an argument (second seven weeks of this unit).

First 7 Weeks – letter writing focus (explain/inform)	Second 7 Weeks – letter writing focus (construct an argument)
Informational/Explanatory Writing: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • conveys information accurately • increases the reader’s knowledge of a subject through his/her rereading about the topic and developing a coherent focus on a topic or a controlling idea • helps readers better understand a procedure or process • supports students with naming, describing, defining, or differentiating ideas, concepts • encourages students to compare and contrast concepts • assists students with citing evidence from a text Writers: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • reread to remember what has been written • accurately summarize information from a text • include appropriate and important details 	An argument is a reasoned logical way of demonstrating that the writer’s position, belief, or conclusion is valid. Argument Writing: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • attempts to change the reader’s point of view • invites action on the reader’s part • encourages the reader to accept the writer’s position, belief, or conclusion • argues for a historically or empirically situated interpretation • marshals evidence and draws on understandings to make a case for a specific perspective Writers: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • accurately reflect information from a text • reread to remember what has been written • use notes as a basis for discussion or letter writing

Mount Laurel Language Arts Curriculum
Grade 7

when summarizing texts

- use notes as a basis for discussion or letter writing
 - describe implications of factual knowledge
 - notice and sometimes use new words from a text
 - use new vocabulary words appropriately to reflect meaning
 - reread to assure accuracy of sentence structure and word use
 - report information from a text or summarize information
 - include important details from the content of an informational text
 - relate important ideas in a text to each other or to other texts
 - reflect awareness of author's underlying message
 - introduce information in categories, paragraphing
 - predict logically, supported by evidence, what will happen next in a text
 - use specific language to write about texts: title, author, illustrator, cover, dedication, author's note, table of contents, glossary, index, headings, problem, solution, etc.
- include appropriate and important details when summarizing information from a text
 - stick to the topic or subject being presented (no rambling)
 - "cut to the bone" in order to punch the subject
 - suggest solutions to a problem and explains why or how a solution will work
 - try to convince/inform/analyze
 - provide relevant background information and history
 - describe opposing arguments and critiques them
 - use statistics: hard evidence
 - develop a clear, true, inviting, and to-the-point lead sentence
 - construct a powerful conclusion that resonates with the reader; leaves the reader with something to think about
 - use helpful transition words to connect paragraphs and ideas
 - use a logical organization that moves a reader along from one point or piece of information to the next
 - use vocabulary words appropriately to reflect meaning
 - revisit the text to check for details
 - include important details from the content of an informational or fictional text
 - relate important ideas in a text to each other or to other texts
 - reflect awareness of author's underlying message
 - introduce information in categories, using paragraphing
 - predict logically, supported by evidence, what will happen next in a text
 - write opinions about a text and back them up with specific information or reasons
 - select examples of the writer's use of language and write opinions about or responses to that language
 - use specific language to write about informational texts: title, author, illustrator, cover, dedication, author's note, table of contents, glossary, index, headings, problem, solution, etc.

The Just Right Book Rule

Children read silently daily for a portion of the reading block from a variety of self-selected texts. Children need to apply “the five finger rule” to their anticipated self-selected reading material. In order to determine if the choice made is appropriate, students need to:

- select a page from the previewed book
- hold up a finger for each word about which they are unsure or do not know
- use the below-listed guide to determine if the book selected is “just right” to read during the independent reading component of the framework

0-1 words about which you are unsure or unfamiliar, the book may be too easy

2-3 words that are unfamiliar to you, the book may be “just right”

4-5 words that are unfamiliar to you, the book may be too hard

A book is too hard for me if:

- I get stuck on words
- It doesn't make sense
- I can't read with expression
- It is confusing

A book is just right for me if:

- I can read fast and smooth
- It makes sense
- I can read with expression
- I can retell the important parts
- I grow ideas as I read
- I like it

Conferring guidelines:

Teachers need to confer with students daily about their reading lives (their independent reading books). Conferring needs to take place in a knee-to-knee setting at the student's desk. Conferences are not scripted. They need to be authentic and spontaneous discussions based on the information that students bring to the conference about their reading habits and goals.

The teacher's goal is to get to know the student's reading behaviors and patterns and to decide on and teach something of value to the student which can be linked to their future reading experiences. The teacher needs to reinforce or expand the student's thinking about print. It is critical to teach the reader and not the text. An additional purpose of the conference is to assist the student with solving problems as s/he reads (processing issues or monitoring and word solving concerns).

The architecture of the conference looks and sounds like this:

Research: observe/listen to the student talk about his/her reading selection

Decide: after having listened to the student discuss a part or parts of the book, weigh your options-- decide what you will teach and how you will teach it (this part of the conference happens underground: “Of all of the things I could teach this child, what is the one thing that will make the biggest difference today?”)

Teach: assist the child with doing something that s/he is not yet doing; intervene to lift the child's

Mount Laurel Language Arts Curriculum
Grade 7

thinking, push his/her thinking to a new level

Link: name what the child has done as a reader and remind the child to do that often in the future

During a conference a teacher might:

- Listen to a student read parts of the book.
- Ask the student to discuss the strategies s/he uses when confronted with an unfamiliar word.
- Ask the student to apply the mini-lesson taught.
- Discuss the book's content, searching for the main idea, central message, or theme.
- Ask the student to determine if a character has changed over time.
- Ask the student to describe the characters or events in a story.
- Invite the student to describe the author's use of figurative language.
- Discuss Post-it notes or letter writing artifacts with the goal of achieving coherent and logical expression of thought

Conferring/Anecdotal Notes

The teacher confers daily with individual students and maintains anecdotal notes across the year on each student.

See appendix for the note-keeping/anecdotal record template. See appendix for a detailed description of T's record keeping.

Book-Talks/Book Recommendations need to include the following: (orally, maximum time 5-8 minutes)

1. List the book's title, author, and genre
2. Develop a short summary of the text highlighting the parts of the book that are interesting without giving away the storyline
3. Read aloud a small excerpt that reveals something enticing about the book
4. Offer an explanation of why you liked the book and why you think others would enjoy it
5. Be as specific as possible
6. Talk about why the book is worth putting aside everything else in order to read it now

Guided Reading: All guided reading materials taught during this unit must represent informational texts.

The Framework for Guided Reading: Effective Teaching Interactions

- Select the text, then preview the book before introducing and teaching it
- Introduce the text
- Read the text
- Discuss and revisit the text
- Teach for Processing Strategies/Systems of Strategic Actions
- Engage in Word Work

Guided Reading: Guided reading starts by the last week in October.

The timeline: During this phase of the year, guided reading continues through to June.

The Essential Elements of Guided Reading:

The Teacher:

- selects the text
- previews/reads the text

Mount Laurel Language Arts Curriculum
Grade 7

- provides an introduction for the text selected
- introduces the whole text or unified sections of the text with attention to the text complexity and demands of the text and the knowledge, experiences, and skills of the readers
- discusses the text with students and encourages them to discuss the text with each other
- invites students to ask questions about the text to expand their understanding
- requires students to respond in writing (reader response) to focusing/organizing questions based on the text's theme, ideas, characters, problem, solution, etc.
- engages students in word work based on the text to increase word knowledge and automaticity in word solving

Selecting a Guided Reading text – instructional level reading

Your instructional level teaching/guided reading will be based on three types of knowledge:

- detailed information about the reader (this information/data is available to the teacher via conference calls; letter writing artifacts; minilesson application; running records; and quick checks)
- familiarity with the available texts (teacher needs to consider text complexity)
- knowledge of the reading process and general principles of reading development

Introducing the Text: Planning the Introduction

A well-planned introduction to a text/article serves as a guide to the reader who will be processing a moderately challenging text independently. Explicit teaching and scaffolding (makes a potentially inaccessible text at the instructional level accessible) the text during the introduction and at planned intervals over time (revisiting and discussing the text) supports this process. This type of support “makes it possible to teach at the cutting edge of students’ understanding. Your teaching helps students read more productively and more intensely.”

- Help the students connect the text to their own lives, to their knowledge of the world, or to their literary experiences.
- Highlight genre and help them to predict the characteristics of the text they are reading based on past experience.
- Encourage the students to look at the cover of the book and generate expectations of the text.
- Demonstrate the kinds of questions readers ask about a text.
- Prompt them to think about the author’s style.
- Help them to recall what they already know about a topic.
- Help them to discover and internalize literary language patterns they might not use in everyday speech.
- Reveal the structure of the whole text-how the author has organized the information.
- Stimulate interest in the text so that students will be interested in reading it.
- Call attention to the conventions of print, i.e., punctuation, titles, subtitles, chapter headings.
- Show them how to use text layout, i.e., side bar headings, column breaks, and graphic information.
- Encourage the students to notice vocabulary and language structures that will need as they process the text.
- Teach them how to use a table of contents, indices, appendices, and other reference sections of texts.
- Prompt the children to examine and interpret illustrations, charts, graphs, maps, and other visual aids and discuss how they communicate the meaning of text.

Mount Laurel Language Arts Curriculum
Grade 7

- Distinguish their own point of view from that of the author of a text.

See page 215 in Guiding Readers and Writers... for a snapshot view of the teacher's and student's role during and after guided reading lessons.

Guided reading instruction: introducing text, scaffolding the text, conducting discussions, creating assignments, etc.

Guided Reading Purpose: On-going successful scaffolding of instructional level books is needed so that the instructional reading level becomes the child's independent reading level thereby reflecting growth in reading and supporting the child to move up the ladder of text complexity.

Teaching for Strategies: Thinking Within, Beyond and About the Text

Thinking Within the Text: The reader processes the information in the text in order to gain the basic or literal meaning of print.

Strategic actions include:

- Solving Words
- Monitoring and Self-Correcting
- Searching for and Using All Kinds of Information
- Summarizing the Text
- Maintaining Rate and Phrasing to Produce Fluency
- Adjusting (speed and technique according to text purpose and type)

Thinking Beyond the Text: The reader brings information to the text that is not explicitly there.

Strategic actions include:

- Predicting
- Making Connections (relating and comparing the text to others one has read or heard)
- Understanding what is implied, but not directly told (inferring)
- Integrating existing content knowledge with new knowledge (synthesizing); synthesizing the information to realize the greater meaning of the text

Thinking About the Text: The reader considers the text as an object, noticing many things about it: craft, structure, quality and authenticity of the writing.

Strategic actions include:

- Analyzing
- Critiquing
 - aspects of the writer's craft
 - organization and structure
 - use of language
 - use of literary devices
 - characteristics of genre
 - features that can be use to evaluate the quality or authenticity of the text
 - underlying organizational structures that represent the way the writer provides information: compare/contrast, cause/effect, description

Mount Laurel Language Arts Curriculum
Grade 7

Word Work: The instruction of vocabulary and the understanding and use of words is embedded in every component of the reading workshop model. Ways to integrate vocabulary instruction can be found in Read Alouds, guided reading, independent reading, shared reading, word study, and writing workshop.

Competent Word Learners:

- learn new words by encountering them in context during conversations and in their reading
- connect new words with what they already know
- use word parts and their functions (base words, root words, affixes to identify the meaning of multisyllable words)
- recognize words that have the same meaning (synonyms)
- recognize words that have opposite meanings (antonyms)
- recognize that words may have multiple meanings and use context to determine the precise meaning intended by the writer or speaker
- determine the meaning and pronunciation of words using dictionaries and other references
- understand the figurative uses of words (similes, metaphors)
- recognize the connotation and denotation of new words
- use context clues and knowledge of language to understand new words while listening and reading
- use new words in talking and writing about reading

Ways to Integrate Vocabulary Instruction in Reading and Writing:

During Interactive Read-Alouds

- increase the amount of text students encounter through read-alouds
- draw attention to meaning of words before, during, and after reading aloud to students
- use intentional conversation that includes words students will be reading or have heard you read
- use interactive vocabulary lessons to deepen understanding of how a writer has used a word to create meaning in a specific text
- invite students to discuss words they found interesting or didn't understand

During Guided Reading

- use new words in conversation during the introduction to the text
- discuss and locate new words during the introduction to a text
- help students connect new words to concepts they already know
- for difficult and new ideas that are central to understanding the text, teach both the concept and the word
- teach students specific strategies for deriving the meaning of words from context
- teach and then prompt students to monitor their own understandings as they read
- use word webs or similar interactive vocabulary techniques after students have read new words in a text
- use semantic features analysis to compare words in the text and their relationships
- have students keep lists of new and interesting words in their reader's notebooks

Mount Laurel Language Arts Curriculum
Grade 7

- have students revisit the text to discover hierarchical relationships among concepts

During Independent Reading

- ensure a large variety of texts are available for students during independent reading time
- encourage students to use new words as they write about their reading in their reader's notebooks
- during sharing, encourage students to give examples of interesting new words they have discovered/noticed

During Word Study

- teach students to make connections among words by meaning
- teach students to make connections via word part, part of speech, affixes, sounds, meanings
- invite students to play Lotto, Concentration, and other games using synonyms, antonyms, homophones, homographs
- use poems to help students learn about words ((antonyms, synonyms, nouns, verbs, adjectives, adverbs, metaphors)
- help students sort words by meaning
- teach many different kinds of words
- help students understand the structure of a word and its relation to meaning

Strategies to use when a word is unfamiliar:

- chunk the letters and read at least the first part of the word
- read on to see if the word becomes clear later
- think about the meaning based on how the story is unfolding and then think about the word's sounds
- see if root words (base words) prefixes, or suffixes are a part of the word
- check for a glossary, footnotes, or endnotes that might explain the word
- check if the word is a bit like a word you know in another language that would make sense
- use a dictionary or, if possible, google the word
- last resort option: ask someone

During Guided Reading sessions, include the following questions as part of your discussion to meet the goals of the Common Core Standards:

Guided Reading Discussion Questions	Common Core Standards
Ask students to analyze and recount what the text has taught them thus far using textual evidence for their position. (Do not get sidetracked on what the students may already know, or think they know, or how they feel about the topic, or discuss related experiences, or their	Key Ideas and Details RI.7.1. Cite several pieces of textual evidence to support analysis of what the text says explicitly as well as inferences drawn from the text.

Mount Laurel Language Arts Curriculum
Grade 7

own opinions). Focus on what the text states explicitly. After students have read the text closely (monitored and self-corrected their reading as needed), invite students to go beyond the literal meaning of the text to think about what is not there, but is implied by the writer (inferential thinking).
What are the central ideas in a text? Determine at least two possible central ideas. Examine these ideas over the course of the text. Ask students to provide an objective *summary of the text. This summary needs to be free of personal opinions or judgments. *A summary is putting together important information as you read disregarding irrelevant information.	RI.7.2. Determine two or more central ideas in a text and analyze their development over the course of the text; provide an objective summary of the text.
Readers need to examine the interactions between individuals, events, and ideas in a text. Ask students to explain how ideas in the text influence individuals or events or how individuals influence ideas or events.	RI.7.3. Analyze the interactions between individuals, events, and ideas in a text (e.g., how ideas influence individuals or events, or how individuals influence ideas or events).
Standards 7.4 – 7.6 Invite you to look at how a text is written – its craft and structure, and how the craft and structure affect your understanding. Ask students to identify a word or words and phrases, especially, figurative, connotative, and technical language that seem more important or suggestive than others or if some words seem surprising or symbolic. Ask how a specific word choice impacts the meaning or tone of the text. Cite evidence for your response.	Craft and Structure RI.7.4. Determine the meaning of words and phrases as they are used in a text, including figurative, connotative, and technical meanings; analyze the impact of a specific word choice on meaning and tone.
At each session, ask students to determine the text’s overall structure thus far. Then examine	RI.7.5. Analyze the structure an author uses to organize a text, including how the major sections

Mount Laurel Language Arts Curriculum
Grade 7

the text's major sections and explain how they contribute to the whole and to the development of the text's ideas.	contribute to the whole and to the development of the ideas.
Look back at the language choices in the text. How does the choice of words, the tone of language illuminate the author's point of view or purpose in the text? How does the author distinguish his/her position from that of others?	RI.7.6. Determine an author's point of view or purpose in a text and analyze how the author distinguishes his or her position from that of others.
To tackle standards 7.7 – 7.9, You need to listen to or watch an alternate version of a text analyzing each medium's portrayal of the topic or subject. How are the various portrayals similar to and different from one another? How does the examination of the similarities and differences in each medium impact the portrayal of the subject?	Integration of Knowledge and Ideas RI.7.7. Compare and contrast a text to an audio, video, or multimedia version of the text, analyzing each medium's portrayal of the subject (e.g., how the delivery of a speech affects the impact of the words).
What specific claims is the author making? What reasons and evidence does the author use to support his/her claims? Has the author sufficiently backed up his/her claims?	RI.7.8. Trace and evaluate the argument and specific claims in a text, assessing whether the reasoning is sound and the evidence is relevant and sufficient to support the claims.
While reading a second or third text/article on the same topic as a preceding text, ask students to examine the key information presented by noting the difference in evidence or interpretations of the facts on the topic or issue. How is the key information presented differently in each text? Does the evidence or interpretation of the facts differ?	RI.7.9. Analyze how two or more authors writing about the same topic shape their presentations of key information by emphasizing different evidence or advancing different interpretations of facts.
	Range of Reading and Level of Text Complexity

Mount Laurel Language Arts Curriculum
Grade 7

By year's end be able to read a variety of informational texts, including history, social studies, and science, within a grade 6-8 text complexity band using processing strategies effectively (word solving and higher order thinking skills/systems of strategic actions). Use scaffolding at the high end of the reading range with certain students as needed.	RI.7.10. By the end of the year, read and comprehend literary nonfiction in the grades 6–8 text complexity band proficiently, with scaffolding as needed at the high end of the range.
---	---

Modifications

Special Education: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● Teacher models own thinking while reading ● Provide additional opportunities to practice ● Use individual teacher/student conferences to address student's needs ● Use small group table conferences to address needs ● Chunk mini-lessons over a number of days ● Develop target vocabulary ● Scaffold comprehension when reading is used to promote reader response ● Chunk reading material ● Use graphic organizers to develop key concepts/ideas ● Teach key aspects of a topic. Eliminate nonessential information ● Provide individual copies of the student's reading checklists 	English Language Learners (ELLs): <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● Model Thinking Aloud ● Encourage Partner Talk ● Repeat and Clarify ● Provide a Sequence ● Encourage self-selection of topics ● Target vocabulary ● Scaffold comprehension when reading is used to promote reader response ● Scaffold content-literacy reading ● Allow products to demonstrate student's learning ● Provide on-going feedback
Students at Risk of School Failure: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● Utilize TIME Mentor Program ● Build a relationship ● Allow flexible due dates ● Employ strategies from Classroom Instruction that Works ● Create the Opportunity to Learn strategies ● Build lessons around student interests 	Gifted Students: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● Utilize flexible groups-group gifted students with other gifted students or higher-level learners ● Encourage students to explore/research concepts in depth via independent studies or investigations (individual/group) ● Differentiate product assignments. Employ differentiated curriculum to keep interest/motivation high ● Encourage creative expression and thinking by allowing students to choose how to approach a problem or assignment (problem based learning) ● Invite students to explore different points of view on a topic of study and compare the two

Mount Laurel Language Arts Curriculum
Grade 7

- Provide multiple opportunities for students to “Own Their Learning”
- Ask students higher-level questions that require students to look into causes, experiences, and facts to draw a conclusion to other areas of learning. (Webb’s Depth of Knowledge- Level 4)
- Create a room environment that encourages creativity and discovery through the use of interesting literature and reference materials. Supply reading materials on a wide variety of subjects and levels
- Provide a learning-rich environment that includes a variety of resources, media, tasks, and methods of teaching
- Focus on Habits of Mind pedagogy

Core Instructional Materials:

- Schoolwide Reading Fundamentals Program (resource used for mini-lessons)
- Newsela.com for leveled texts
- Technology/Equipment: ACTIV Board, LCD projector, sound system , CDs, DVDs, videos, internet, iPod